PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Dear PRA Members,

Winter is almost over and Spring is in the air. Polaroid news is in the air as well. Have you noticed the fanfare being generated by the current owners of Polaroid? New products carrying the Polaroid name were introduced at this year's Consumer Electronics Show, and I get several news emails a day due to these activities. And it's not only about new products. The company fulfilling US orders for the old Polaroid film received their last shipment of 10,000 packs of film from Enschede in February. This film was made before the Enschede plant closed, and is the last of the products that we all knew so well. The new owner of the Enschede plant has announced plans to produce a "re-invented" Polaroid film this year, so who knows what that will bring? Our Polaroid is gone, but the Polaroid name continues to be in the news.

Plans for our 25th Anniversary celebration (described below) are proceeding well. At press time we had already received over 300 reservations. If you have not sent your reservation, it's not too late. Send it in today and come for the big reunion!

Steve Berry, PRA President

PRA 25th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Who's the "Oldest PRA member attending the lunch?" or "the youngest?", How about "traveling the farthest?" or "the earliest seniority date?" See who these lunch-attending Polaroid retiree members are and if you're one of them win a tax free $100! We're also planning a special wine toast and a take home engraved wine glass as we did for the 20th.

Wednesday, May 12th is the date and it's coming up FAST. Recall that we reduced the lunch price to $15 to encourage attendance. Imagine $15 for roast beef or baked schrod, what a deal. Thanks again to Lantana who have agreed to waive the 20% house charge for this special event in recognition of our long relationship.

See the list inside for those who have signed up so far, send in your reservation today, don't be left out. Jim Grunst is standing by to receive your mail.

See you there,

Roger Clapp Co-chairman, 25 PRA Anniversary Committee

Can anyone help?

I have a problem with a Polaroid Museum Replica Painting. For my 25th Anniversary award, I selected a Claude Monet painting — “Red Boats, Argenteuil”. About 7 years ago, it started to show bubbles. The film bubbled away from its backing in a few areas. This so detracted from the painting that I had to remove it from our living room. My Question is...How can this be fixed? Does anyone have a remedy? Also, has anyone had a similar problem? Thanks for your help in advance..

Please contact Tom Hickey at tomandreg@comcast.net , anyone on the PRA Board or Bill Rosen, editor PRA Newsletter 112 meadow lane, Randolph, MA 02368

We have a Polaroid Group on Facebook!

Have you checked out the Polaroid Group on Facebook? Ok, Ok, I know what many will answer. We're the older (oldest?) generation. Many of us retired before computers were a big thing, and so we never got into computers much. And even if we did, Facebook is for the young kids, right?

Well, never-the-less, for those of you that do have and use computers, take a look at Facebook. As I prepare this note for our Spring Newsletter, there are about 100 members in the Polaroid Facebook Group. They are having fun posting pictures and sharing comments about their Polaroid experiences. I especially like the picture which includes a young Ed Wade posted by Ray Munchmeyer (who is also looking very young in the picture).

And since I'm talking about computers, I should mention that our Website Committee is working on an update to the decade old WWW.PolaroidRetirees.org website. It has been a challenge to update the old website and some people have difficulty accessing it, but it is still there with lots of current postings in the Bulletin Board section. We'll tell you more about the new website, when it is up and running.

A third computer application which should be mentioned, is the Polcommunications email list on Yahoo. Since this was started in 2001, some 800 Polaroid members have been added to the list. Over the years about half have dropped off due to changing interests, but over 400 members still share information and comments with each other on the list. If you would like to join this group, just send an email to me (SteveBerrydhs@yahoo.com), tell me who you are and where you worked at Polaroid, and I'll add you to the list.

And if you don't use computers, it's not too late to start. Take a course at your local Senior Center or Adult Education facility and join the 21st century. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one at your local library.

German bank buys back Polaroid site - Polaroid name continues in the News

By Richard Conn/Daily News staff Daily News Tribune

Excerpted by E. Richard Rosenblatt / PRA

The German bank that holds the mortgage on the 120-acre former Polaroid property, bought back the land Friday Oct. 9, 2009 at a foreclosure auction. Helaba Bank, which holds the $70 million note on the Main Street property, bought the land for $42.5 million. There were only a "handful of qualified bidders," according to auctioneer Michael Saperstein.

The site had been owned by a venture between New York based-Related Companies and Polaroid - Watch City Development LLC - which planned to build the Commons at Prospect Hill, a 1.7 million square foot mix of shops, offices and restaurants at the site.

Polaroid, though, filed for bankruptcy last December and the company has reportedly tried to exit the project. According to published reports, financing for the project has also stalled. Mayor Jeannette McCarthy said in the weeks before the auction that she believed Related, was trying to stay in the project. McCarthy said yesterday that the result of Friday's auction was not unexpected and said she expects the bank to eventually find a buyer for the property.

McCarthy said the eventual developer of the land should be committed to those same type of traffic improvements along with preserving the 20-acre Berry Farm on the property, transforming an old railroad bed into a recreation trail and giving the city an easement for an eventual connection to the interstate. "I'm still concentrating on the same four things," McCarthy said. "The community issues are still there."

Polaroid Unveils New Product Line-Up at CES

Excerpted by E. Richard Rosenblatt / PRA

LAS VEGAS - 2010 International CES – January 7, 2010 – PLR IP Holdings, LLC, owners of the Polaroid brand, today launched a new product lineup at the 2010 International Consumer Electronics Show (CES), including new instant digital products, the long-awaited return of classic Polaroid instant film and a modern version of the OneStep instant film camera, plus new flat panel televisions and more. Polaroid demonstrated the new products at CES booth #13614, located in Central Hall at the Las Vegas Convention Center. Additional in-booth activities included an appearance by Lady Gaga, who was recently named creative director for a specialty line of Polaroid products, an exclusive exhibition of classic fine art photography from the famous Polaroid Collection, and live celebrity portrait sessions by renowned contemporary Polaroid photographer, Maurizio Galimberti. "Everyone loves digital cameras, and we all love the spontaneity of instant prints. Polaroid is bringing its own brand of instant together with digital, with a strong dose of the fun, simplicity and value that Polaroid is known for," said Scott W. Hardy, president of PLR IP Holdings, LLC. "Polaroid's new lineup of instant digital cameras, classic instant film cameras, instant mobile printers, online photo sharing service, flat panel TV's, and much more gives people everything they need to easily capture, create, print, share and enjoy their instant photos and digital images anyway they want."

The Return of Polaroid Instant Classics

Supported by a strategic relationship with Summit Global Group, a longtime Polaroid partner, and The Impossible Project, the manufacturer of classic film for Polaroid film cameras, Polaroid will offer a completely redesigned, modern version of the Polaroid OneStep camera, the PIC 1000. The PIC 1000 will be available in a range of fun colors and use classic Polaroid Color 600 Instant Film to produce the brand's classic white border instant pictures. The Polaroid Color 600 Instant Film will work with both classic and new Polaroid cameras and will be offered in packs of 10 pictures. The new classic PIC 1000 camera and instant color film will be available at national retailers in 2010.

Exhibition of Classic Polaroid Photographs

To help celebrate the brand's long history in imaging, Polaroid will hold an exclusive exhibition of classic Polaroid photographs, featuring selected works from The Polaroid Collection of Photography. The full Collection features more than 1,200 works by artists who used Polaroid cameras and film because of their unique aesthetic potential. CES attendees will have a chance to view selected works from the Collection by Ansel Adams, Andy Warhol, William Wegman and many others at Polaroid's booth throughout the event. Sotheby's will offer the full Collection at auction in June 2010. "Apart from their broad appeal to amateurs all over the world, Polaroid images have such a unique personality of their own that fine artists like Maurizio Galimberti, Ansel Adams, Andy Warhol and others featured in the Polaroid Collection of Photography have made them a central part of their own work," said Jon Pollock, CMO, PLR IP Holdings, LLC. "Polaroid is very proud of this legacy, and we're working now to give people many more ways to express themselves and experience their world visually, with the fun, simplicity and value that the Polaroid brand stands for."

ABOUT POLAROID

Across several generations, people regard Polaroid as one of the most trusted, well-respected and recognizable names when it comes to instant photography. Polaroid began more than 70 years ago with polarized sunglasses, evolved into instant film, camera and camera accessories, and in recent years has expanded well beyond into flat panel televisions, portable DVD players, digital photo frames, digital HD camcorders, waterproof digital cameras and more. People can expect to see new products from Polaroid that will deliver the fun, instant gratification and value that the brand has long stood for. Polaroid is a registered trademark of PLR IP Holdings, LLC. For more information, visit www.polaroid.com.

Lost Polaroid Retirees may be due Money from the PBGC

Former Polaroid employee and PRA member Steve Silen, called our attention to the fact that the Pension Benefit Guarantee Corporation lists the following members as lost and requests that they or their beneficiaries (should they be deceased) contact them. Steve was able to trace one member and help her get a five figure amount from the PBGC.

William Cousins writes... I am now in the Chicago area. Enjoy family and friends where Marilyn and I grew up. Maybe we can get back to one of your meetings to see all the friends we had at Polaroid.

Jane Rollins writes... I am just about the happiest retiree. I worked at Polaroid for 40 years and now realize -- I worked to retire !!!
To the Board..You're simply the best..

John Prendergast writes... Well its 13 years since I left Polaroid. The day I left I felt very sad leaving all my close friends of 32 years. I worked in W2 roll film 2nd shift and W3 P60, QC, SX70, W5 QC, (practically everywhere). We have done many trips with our friends through New England. I still dream of Polaroid and all the wonderful people I worked with.

Joan Westcott & Neil Dufresne write... We have been living in Florida going on 10 years. We have never regretted our move here. We are very active and have met such a wonderful group of people from all over the US and the world. We do take time out of our fun to volunteer for Hospice and it has been very rewarding for us. Neil also volunteers for the Florida Golf Association working the tournaments especially the ones for the kids. Golfing is still our great love and hopefully we will be golfing far into the future. P.S. We just experienced 2 weeks of winter down here in January. how did we ever do it for 6 months up North? We are now happily back in 70's daytime.

Doris Grimard writes... Since retiring in 1984, I have done a lot of travelling. 1994, tour de France & Tour of Italy, 1995, Germany, Austria & Switzerland, 1996, Fiji & New Zealand, 1997, Russian Waterways, Israel & Egypt, 1998, England, Scotland & Wales, Ireland, Athens Greek Islands & Turkey cruise, 1999,

Bob Radochia writes... On the day I arrived at Polaroid on February 4, 1959 it never entered my mind that I would remain at Polaroid until January, 2006. The sixties, seventies and eighties were exciting years at Polaroid and to have been part of it was something special. Now, four years later, I realize how much Polaroid has defined me and still is part of my life in terms of how I solve problems, make decisions, and carry out a task. The Polaroid relationships established with so many continues on and whenever we meet many feel a sense of having been part of a unique experience that only we can appreciate. It is the Polaroid experience we share and Spain Portugal & Morocco, Bohemian highlights, Germany, Poland, Slovakia, Hungary, Austria, Czech Republic, 2000, Panama Canal, 2001 Alaska, 2002/2003 Grand Scandinavian cruise, Denmark Norway, Estonia, Russia, Finland, Sweden 2004 Hawaiian Island cruise, 2005 Tahiti, Polynesian 7 Cook islands, 2006, Cruise to Rome, Venice, Croatia, Cannes & Barcelona, and a few Caribbean cruises. Also drove my motor home North in the Summer for 17 years. Now I golf 3 times a week..Come to Florida, live longer..

Robert Totaro writes... I left the company in 1985 to run my art gallery in Wellesley which I had started in 1982. This summer the gallery will be 28 years old. We inventory about 4000 works of art from North America, Italy & France. Website www.jtodd.com

Eric Thorgerson writes... I retired in June 1998. I consulted for the company until Sept. 2001. I was the Corporate ombudsman the last year and a half. Taught at Northeastern University in the Chemical Eng Dept and became acting chair from 2002/2006. I continue to have a relationship with the dept and also do some consulting work. I have been the board chair of the Chapel Hill school in Waltham for the past 7 years. I married in 2003 to Elizabeth Foote also of Polaroid and we are enjoying life immensely.

Karl Schwartz writes... Our oldest grandson, Derek, was accepted as a cadet at the United States Military Academy at West Point in the class of 2013 this past June. He will be the 50th class after mine since I graduated from there in 1963. I and my classmates will shephard his class during their 4 years at the academy, culminating with their graduation in 2013. I will be privileged to attend all the significant events during that period of time.

Life After Polaroid

the PRA volunteers that makes the PRA such a success. Change is not a part of who I am. I worked at Polaroid for nearly 47 years, married to my wife Joyce for 45 years, lived in the same house for 40 years, lived in the same town all my life, and have never been to Florida. As far as life after Polaroid, there is no such thing because Polaroid lives on in our subconscious; I am still working on my to-do-list. My list includes spending a few mornings at the local library browsing through periodicals and researching mundane things; instead, I spend time in the children's section with my grandsons looking at books about trains and trucks. I thought we would travel to distant lands; instead, I spend time traveling the streets of Boston with my Senior MBTA pass and grandson via buses, subway trains and trolleys. Thought I would transition from hockey to golf by now but due to my seniority in the three groups I skate with I have been grandfathered on these teams as the token old guy. Thought I would spend more time in my hammock in Maine but I usually find some other family member in it when it comes to my turn. I planned to build bird houses and other little things with all the scrap wood I saved in my garage over the years; instead, I end up rearranging the wood a few times a year as clutter takes over the garage. I have not given up the thought of becoming a gardener or learning to play the piano even though I have not taken the first steps in pursuit of these endeavors. As they say, "where does the time go? I don't know, but I am certainly enjoying every minute of it.

To all the people I have had the pleasure to have known at Polaroid over the years, thank you for your part in making so many fond memories of Polaroid that I cherish so much.

PRA wants Polaroid Alums - We Need Your Help to Recruit New Members

If you know any former employees of the "Old Polaroid" who are not members of the Polaroid Retirees Association, please tell them about us and give them a copy of the application that is in this Newsletter. Urge them to join - it only costs $10 a year, and for that they get four newsletters, invitations to our luncheons twice a year, and a copy of our membership list with e-mail addresses. Our major requirement is that they worked for the "Old Polaroid," which means that they had a seniority date of before July 2002.

Urge your old Polaroid friends to join!
